

I built an app for my own four kids.

The most personal thing I have shipped.

Four kids. One question.

How do I raise them whole, in a world that pulls their attention in every other direction?

A 4-pillar family app.

One app, four things I refuse to leave to chance.

- Education curiosity and learning habits
- Faith values and reflection
- Wealth money sense, early
- Health movement and growth tracking

Local-first, private by design.

Data stays on the device. A father's app, not a data business.

Build for the people you love.

If AI lets one person build real software, this is the kind of thing worth building first.

YOUR MOVE

What would you build for yours?

Tell me in the comments. I am collecting ideas.
